Attorney General Ashley Moody News Release

World Day Against Trafficking in Persons

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Attorney General Ashley Moody is calling on Floridians to take action in advance of World Day Against Trafficking in Persons—the day is officially recognized on July 30. Attorney General Moody is committed to making Florida a zero-tolerance state for human trafficking. To achieve this lofty goal, more Floridians need to join the effort. As the world prepares to come together to recognize World Day Against Trafficking in Persons, Attorney General Moody is outlining ways Floridians can help stop human trafficking and save lives.

Attorney General Ashley Moody said, “As we prepare to recognize World Day Against Trafficking in Persons, I am calling on Floridians to take action. Learning how to spot and report this atrocious crime is one of the best ways to help make Florida a zero-tolerance state for human trafficking—and possibly save a life.”

The Florida Attorney General's Office has multiple ways Floridians can become more informed about human trafficking, including:
